FIFTEEN CENTS

Village Elects Trustees

Antioch voters Tuesday elected the three members of the People's Party as their village trustees for the next four years.

Winners in the election were incumbents Arnold W. Weber and J. I. (Irv) Walsh, and their running mate, Diane (Willie) Kasik.

Defeated were the three members of the Concerned Citizens Party: Raymond P. Toft, William G. Carney and Dale W. Frasch.

These were the unofficial vote totals given by Village Clerk Marilyn Sterbenz at 9 p.m. Tuesday:

Weber 528, Walsh 517, Mrs. Kasik 419, Toft 358, Carney 342 and Frasch 275.

THE POLLS closed at 6 p.m. and Precinct No. 1 reported first, before 8 o'clock. Walsh led with 254 votes, Weber had 245 and Toft was in third place with 220. Carney and Mrs. Kasik each had 196 votes and Frasch 132.

Precinct No. 1 includes village voters living west of Hwy. 83.

The report from Precinct No. 2, those living east of the highway, came in at 9 p.m. and made the difference. Weber received 283 votes from that area, Walsh 263 and Mrs. Kasik 223.

FROM PRECINCT No. 2, Carney received 146 votes, Frasch 143 and Toft 138.

Trustee Margaret Nelson, who decided not to run for re-election, received 12 write-in votes.

So Walsh and Weber will stay on the board of trustees along with Michael J. Haley, William H. Seemann and Ronald J. Cunningham. And they will be joined by Mrs. Kasik, who will replace Mrs. Nelson.

The terms of Haley, Seemann and Cunningham have two more years to run.

CITY OFFICIALS and a host of friends turned out Sunday when the village of Antioch dedicated its new park in Sequoit Terrace Subdivision in honor of Dr. George W. Jensen, long-time Antioch veterinarian and civic leader. At the

Officer Fred Retires This Week

A popular and friendly police officer, Fred Herdt, is retiring from the Antioch force and leaving the community.

He will be missed, not only by the merchants in the downtown area, but by the children of the

Antioch Grade School

Fred has been their crossing guard for the last four years.

Chief Jack Wells said that Fred is retiring Friday and will move to his farm and daughter's home in Herscher.

"Fred has been a great help to us," Chief Wells said. "There has never been a mishap or accident on that busy corner as long as he's been on duty there. He's done an exceptionally good job and, as you know, the school kids love him."

Chief Wells said a farewell party will be given for Fred at the police department on Friday.

False Alarms — Youth Caught

A 15-year-old youth has been arrested by Antioch police for setting off false alarms.

Chief Jack Wells said the boy had been calling in and asking for fire trucks and rescue squads.

Since the juvenile lives outside the village, he has been turned over to Lake County authorities for prosecution.

WHITE'S ICE CREAM PARLOR, at 775 Main St., next to Antioch's library, has become one of the most popular new spots in town. Above, Karen White serves a sizeable sundae to Rick Magee. Karen and her husband, Rod, a leading member of Antioch's rescue squad, are well-known in the community and their new business is open seven days a week, from 12 noon till 11 p.m.

The Ice Cream Parlor

In the early part of this century, ice cream was the absolute rage - dispensed everywhere from the drugstore soda fountain, to the street vendor, to the Pullman car. The soda jerk came into his own. And the traditional ice cream parlor flourished nationwide.

During the early days of prohibition, ice cream trade journals regularly listed breweries transformed into ice cream plants, and self-righteous proclamations were sent out extolling ice cream's many virtues over the "hard stuff."

Rumor has it that Gentleman Jim Corbett stoked himself up on ice cream, then KO'd the great, booze-loving John L.

Sullivan. John L. promptly reformed and ate ice cream religiously thereafter.

When Prohibition ended, and as the Depression deepened, interest in ice cream waned. It wasn't until the 1960s that ice cream once again began to come into its own.

PERSONAL There's limit to hospitality

By PAT AND MARILYN DAVIS

Dear Pat and Marilyn:

I'm sure many people write complaining about their mothers-in-law but I'll trade my sister-in-law for any mother-in-law I've ever heard of.

Sally is 26 years old and has decided to return to college. She worked a couple of years and then married. She is now divorced. My husband was very pleased when his sister decided to complete her education. He told her she could live with us to cut expenses — unfortunately we live near the college!

My husband made this decision without consulting me, and Sally has turned out to be an impossible house guest. She keeps her bedroom in shambles, the bathroom is a disaster; and if she makes a sandwich, she leaves the mess for me to clean up. She even tosses her dirty clothes in with mine and expects me to wash them.

I've complained to my husband and we always end up in a fight. To top it off, Sally attends class only when she feels like it and has dropped two of her four classes. What do I do now?

Had It

Dear Had It:
Give Sally her dirty clothes, tell her to pack and leave — the sooner the better. This girl is NOT trying.

Dear Pat and Marilyn:

My mother is driving us up the wall with her transcendental meditation. She will sit in her room, hands in lap, eyes closed, for 20 minutes night and morning. She insists this helps her emotionally and that we are to leave her alone while she meditates. What can I do with such a mother?

Dear C. C.:

You can leave her alone while she meditates. Why shouldn't Mom have time to collect her thoughts and stabilize her mind? What's so wrong with that?

Growth or No-Growth?

Bustling growth and development in Lake County - is it a destructive, fire-breathing dragon that will wreak havoc on all of us or is it a knight in shining armor come to save the day?

County officials, along with experts in housing, architecture and economics, will wrestle with the problem of Growth vs. No-Growth at the 1975 Community Development Conference Saturday, 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., at the Mundelein Holiday Inn.

One of the speakers will be William Haralson, vice president of Economics Research Associates in Oak Brook.

Joining Haralson on the speakers' platform will be: Professor Walter Lewis of the Department of Architecture of the University of Illinois; Gerry Estes, former director of the Lake County Regional Planning Commission and currently Planner of Berkus Midwest; John K. Anderson, director of the County Regional Planning Commission; John Balen, president of the County Board of Supervisors; F. T. "Mike" Graham, chairman of the Planning, Zoning and Building Committee of the County Board of Supervisors; and Norman Geary, member of the Lake County Board of Supervisors.

The conference, the second sponsored by the Home Builders Association of Lake County is aimed at municipal officials who must make decisions that affect their respective communities.

For years, the question of growth in Lake County has been heatedly debated by proponents on both sides. These speakers will give their views on this issue. Additional time has been set aside during the afternoon for a question and answer period in which all speakers will be available to field questions from those in attendance.

Unemployment in Trades

A purchasing executive of Inland Steel Company warns that unless reasonable settlements are achieved in this spring's construction wage negotiations, there may be cutbacks in area construction projects, causing further unemployment in the construction trades.

Robert Ficken, assistant vice president for Inland told a meeting of construction management negotiators that the economic downturn, coupled with higher material, equipment, and labor costs, has already forced the postponement or cancellation of numerous projects.

Among these are the oil demonstration plant of Northern Illinois Gas Company and a coal gasification plant of Commonwealth Edison Company, the latter because estimated project costs had soared from $521 million to $1.7 billion in a year's time.

Besides laborers, other crafts involved in negotiations are bricklayers, carpenters, cement finishers, iron workers, operating engineers, technical engineers and teamsters.

Ficken urged management negotiations to get across to their union counterparts that industry needs reasonable labor settlements to be able "to plan and build new facilities in timely fashion and at reasonable cost."

Unemployment in construction hit 15 percent in February, the highest level since 1961.

Recognizing this, some unions in other areas and the laborers in Chicago have settled for no wage increases. In late March, plumbers in South Bend, Ind., approved a 35 percent reduction in wage scales for residential work so that housing costs would become competitive, and, ultimately, so that more plumbers would be employed.

The Town Crier

I think it's a good idea when a man is honored in his lifetime. Naming the new village park in Sequoia Terrace subdivision after "Doc" Jensen was a wonderful tribute to the 85-year-old gentleman who has meant so much to Antioch.

"Doc" told how he happened to come here many years ago. It seems that he and another veterinarian were planning to move to this area.

"Which do you want?" Doc asked him. "Antioch or Richmond."

"I'll take Richmond," said the other fellow.

So Doc Jensen took Antioch, and we're all mighty glad it worked out that way.

I KEEP HOPING that someone will name something after me. But then, on the other hand, I'm afraid to think what it might be.

I used to belong to the Elks Club in Kenosha and one of our members, John Malloy, could make better Old Fashioneds than anyone in town. He taught the bartender how to do it just right, and the drink became known as the Malloy Old Fashioned.

So you could walk into the club and ask for an Old Fashioned, but if you were really "in the know," you ordered a Malloy Old Fashioned. I think that's a fine tribute to John.

Club they had a special sandwich they called the Steinmetz. It was named in honor of its creator, a member named Milt Steinmetz. You could order a hamburger or a cheeseburger, but think how happy you made Milt feel when you walked in and said, "I'll have a Steinmetz and a bottle of Schlitz."

TEN OR FIFTEEN years ago, when Arnold Palmer was the king of golf and his name was magic, he was playing in the Bing Crosby tournament at Pebble Beach in California.

Arnie overshot the green on a short hole and his ball bounced down onto the rocks along the Pacific Ocean. National television captured our hero's plight as he took off his shoes, went down among the water and the rocks, and tried desperately to hit his ball back to the green. It kept bouncing around and Arnie finally took a 13 on the hole. Even he was laughing.

That night bartenders in the area came up with a special drink, "Palmer on the Rocks," and it sold like crazy.

SPEAKING of golf, there was a course I used to play and it had a tree just to the right of the 18th fairway. The members gave the tree a special name. They called it the "Bleep Bleep" tree, only they didn't say "Bleep Bleep."

It got its name because so many golfers hit their shots over there and walked down the fairway shaking their heads and saying, "There I am, behind that 'Bleep Bleep' tree again." Hear ye!

"Snow must've covered his tracks — but I tell you — he was huge!"

Along the way with ANNIE MAE

This past Sunday afternoon was a busy one what with the choral concert at the high school, the dedication of "Doc" Jensen park in Sequoit Terrace and the iceless hockey playoffs at Grass Lake school for the 4th and 5th grade teams.

Hats off to Mr. Ralph Brooke and all of the students from the high school who participated in the annual spring choral concert. A solo by Paul Cramer and several selections sung by Mr. Bernard Izzo made for a fine afternoon's entertainment.

Doc Jensen and Mayor Bob Wilton cut the ribbon together, officially dedicating the new village park in Sequoit Terrace. Many dignitaries and citizens were on hand for the ceremony and the coffee hour following. Many thanks to the Park Committee for all their hard work planning and securing the equipment and to all the various clubs and organizations as well as private citizens who helped raise the money needed to purchase equipment. I must say that the park has provided many hours of fun for all the children in the area. Now that the tennis courts are ready it will be even better.

Congrats to the "Blues," the 4th and 5th grade iceless hockey champions. Coached by Jim Walsh, the boys played an exciting game against A. J. Paul's Bruins Sunday afternoon at Grass Lake school, winning the game in the last 40 seconds of overtime play.

Congrats also to the Grass Lake school girls volleyball team who won their tournament last week. The girls were coached by Ms. Pam Fridrich and P. E. Leacher.

A good time was had by all as Teen Canteen turned the Upper Grade School into Las Vegas last Friday evening. Seems there are still a lot of "big time bettors" around these days.

LOTS OF BABY NEWS - Great grand parents for the first time, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Patrovsky of Antioch are happy to announce the birth of Suraya Kathryn born Mar. 17 to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph De Sorrento of Cleveland, Ohio. Grandparents are the former Gloria Patrovsky Graham of Addison, Ill. and Robert J. Graham of Florida. The Patrovskys' will attend the little lady's christening on Apr. 19 in Cleveland.

Ray Reseburg of Sheboygan, Wis. The Anderson's also have a daughter, Stacy, who is seven.

I guess just about everybody is back from their Easter holiday by now. Brown as berries - Joy and Dave Frook returned from two weeks of just plain relaxing and sunning at Long Boat Key, Florida.

Babs and Bob Barnes and family have returned home after two fantastic weeks in Hawaii where they toured the four major islands, Deep sea fishing, coin hunting, lots of swimming, sunning and sightseeing made for a very enjoyable time. And, of course, the weather was beautiful all the time they were there.

Lucky guys missed all that snow!

Belated birthday wishes to Jack Lawrence - hear tell you really don't care for "strawberry whipped cream cake."

The stork also visited Bill and Jan Anderson of Lake Villa. Ryan William was born on Mar. 26 tipping the scales at 7 lbs. 15 oz. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Anderson of Libertyville and maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs.

John and Nancy Kolb of Rt. 5, Antioch, are happy to announce the birth of their first child, Jennifer Anne, on Mar. 24. The little miss weighed in at 8 lbs. 2 oz. and was 19½" long. Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Eugene F. Geiger of Rt. 5, Antioch and paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. John W. Kolb of Chicago. Great grandmother is Mrs. John Kolb Sr. of Chicago.

'Paul Revere' Rides Again: In Antioch Friday Night

On Apr. 18, 1775, Paul Revere made his historic horseback ride to warn that the British were coming.

Two hundred years later, this Friday night at 9 o'clock, the ride will be re-enacted in downtown Antioch.

"The idea is to call attention to the fact that we're going to be into the Bicentennial celebration in a big way," said William E. Brook, chairman of the local Bicentennial committee.

POLICE CHIEF Jack Wells has agreed to play the part of Paul Revere for Friday night's fun in Antioch. And he will be chased by three redcoats with muskets firing (blanks, we hope).

Pastor Steve Williams said he will have some lanterns put up in the belfry of the Methodist Church, but that he isn't climbing up there himself. He has a volunteer, we understand.

We also understand that Longfellow's famous poem about the historic ride will be recited over the public address system in the park near the village cannon.

As far as we know, Rescue Squad Captain Jim Fields is the only one in town who can recite the entire poem from memory. It starts like this:

"Listen, my children, and you shall hear ... Of the midnight ride of Paul Revere ..."

THE BICENTENNIAL committee planned a big meeting last night at the State Bank of Antioch. About 40 local organizations, including churches and clubs, were invited to send representatives.

"We want everyone to participate," Brook said. "We're hoping to have some major event take place in the community during each month of the Bicentennial year, which runs from July, 1975, through July of '76."

Brook said Antioch has applied for recognition nationally as a bicentennial community. The village will be able to fly the official flag of the celebration and have official signs greeting visitors coming into town.

"We also have applied for a state grant for the reconstruction of the Gage Mill on Sequoit Creek," Brook said.

The Gages were the first settlers in the area and built a sawmill on the creek in 1839, just west of the Main St. bridge. It probably was Antioch's first business and the replica of the sawmill and its wheel will become a historic landmark.

'Awana' Olympics Here Saturday

The Northeastern Illinois Awana Olympics will be held Saturday at Antioch High School.

About 500 girls and 400 boys will compete in relay races, other running events, tug-of-war and balloon volleyball.

Teams will be coming from Rockford, Belvidere, Elmhurst, Joliet, Elgin, Fox Lake, Round Lake and other communities.

The boys' semifinals begin at 10 a.m. and the girls' semifinals at 2:30 p.m. Finals will be at 7 p.m.

Women of The Moose

An "Academy of Friendship Session" will be held Sunday at the Arlington Towers Hotel. Persons wishing to attend should contact June Ballenger.

The club's anniversary date is May 10. Tickets are available from club officers or from Ed Kurtz at the Moose Lodge.

A Chapter Night program was held Apr. 3. Norma Garvin gave a talk about her recent trip to the Pillsbury Bake-Off Contest.

One candidate was enrolled: Susan Ploughman. And three candidates were elected to membership: Virginia Penn, Muriel Leib and Jeannie Vecky.

Bicycle Rodeo May 3

A bicycle safety rodeo is being sponsored Saturday, May 3, by Barry Eistfeld of the Jewel Food Store in conjunction with Sue Sedivec and members of the Antioch Police Department.

The event will be in the Antioch Lower Grade School parking lot beginning at 1 p.m. Riders will be able to have their bicycles checked for safety and will receive bicycle manuals. They also will ride through an obstacle course to test their ability and knowledge of the "rules of the road."

Riders completing the obstacle course and passing the safety check will be eligible for a drawing of 50 bicycle flags.

"The registration of bikes is most important at this time of the year for protection of bicycle thefts," Miss Sedivec said. "We urge all riders to participate in registering their bikes and completing the safety check and obstacle course."

THE LEADING ROLES in "John Brown's Body" at the PM&L Theatre in Antioch are played by (from left) Don MacKenzie, Lou Jones and Valerie Hunley. The dramatic and musical adaptation of Steven Vincent Benet's epic poem will close this weekend with performances on Friday and Saturday nights at 8:30 o'clock.

2 More Performances Of PM&L Production

People believe that if your right hand itches you will receive money in it: if the left itches, a letter.

Only two more opportunities remain to see PM&L's current production "John Brown's Body."

The last two performances at the PM&L Theatre on Main Street in Antioch are scheduled for this Friday and Saturday. Curtain time for both performances is 8:30 p.m.

To make certain that you don't miss this Civil War epic, call 395-3055, PM&L's new telephone number, to reserve your seats.

Such tensely emotional events of the Civil War as General Sherman's march to the sea, the spectacular burning of an old Georgia plantation estate, the First Battle of Bull Run and the Battle of Gettysburg have gripped the attention of the audiences who saw the first three presentations of this great American epic.

The show is based on Stephen

Vincent Benet's classic work, with music provided by Fenno Heath.

Don Beveroth directs the PM&L production, and Mary Chris LaKome is its music director. Much of the stirring music is produced by a 19-voice chorus.

ABC's of Travel

By BARB CORBIN

Sometime ago I wrote an article about your family and friends who are classed as foreign visitors on visas to the United States. At long last the problem and confusion is solved.

Foreign visitors may enter the U.S. for up to one year on a tourist visa under a new rule of the Immigration and Naturalization Service which went into effect Mar. 1. Sorry about being a bit late on this but I was out of the country.

The INS first planned to limit tourist visas to six months with no extensions because of its heavy workload to process applications to extend visits. Now the exact length of stay under the rule will be determined at the U.S. port of entry based on (what the passenger says and what the INS inspector feels) is warranted.

It will present no problem for a foreign visitor on a bona fide tour who has documents, hotel reservations and other ground arrangements. The problem comes when a passenger has an open-dated ticket between, say New York, Chicago, Los Angeles and back to New York, and has only $300 in his pocket. These persons often overstay their visa and look for a job, and thus fall into the "illegal" category.

BARB CORBIN

However, persons who are required to stay in the U.S. beyond the one year limit for medical reasons or other extenuating circumstances, would be permitted to remain for a limited time. These situations will be handled on a case-by-case basis. Should you have anyone under these circumstances, contact your local travel agency or the consulate office of the country involved.

SCHOOL BOARD ELECTIONS

Woods, Bailey, Walsh, Moore Are Winners

Voters in the Antioch Grade School District went to the polls last Saturday and returned to office LaVerne Woods and Milo Bailey.

Woods, running as an incumbent, received 233 votes and Bailey, a former board member, received 207.

They won three-year terms. Totals for the three other candidates were Charlene Langosch, 112; Robert Olson, 74, and William Slater, 68.

IN THE Antioch High School district, incumbents James Walsh and Glen Moore won new three-year terms. Walsh received 483 votes, Moore 472 and newcomer Richard Schlarbaum 231.

Howard Bonner, an incumbent, was unopposed for a two-year term, and received 561 votes.

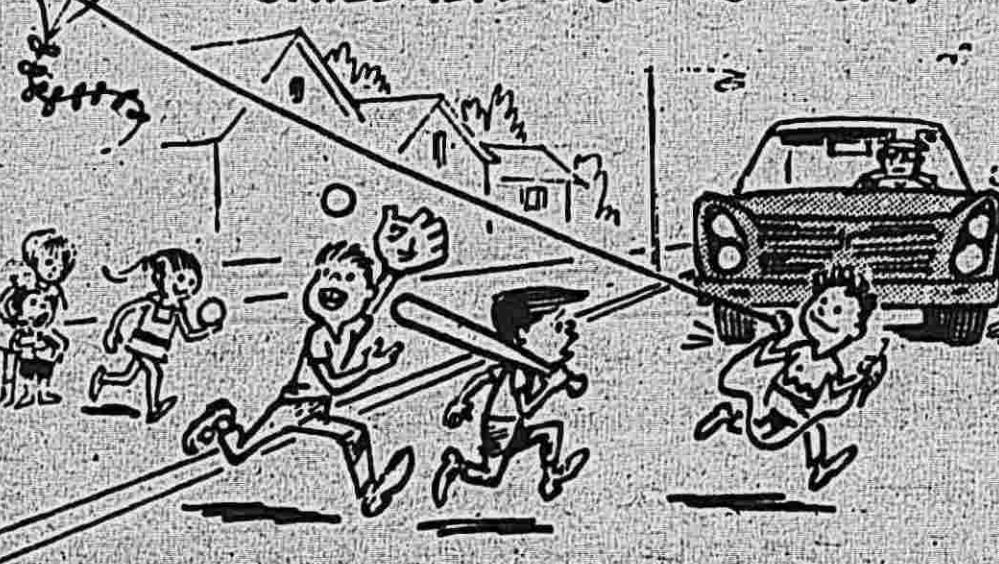

IN LAKE VILLA, there was an upset in the District 41 grade school voting.

Board President Robert Henderson was defeated in his bid for re-election. Newcomer Fred Wolf won a three-year term with 290 votes and so did incumbent Frank Grenus, with 262 votes. Henderson gathered 237 votes while Charles Hemsing, running unopposed for a one-year unexpired term, received 329.

THERE WAS no contest in the Grass Lake grade school district. Jeanne Handschiegel and Patrick Sikorski were returned to the board for three-year terms.

At Emmons School, incumbents Sharon Lichter and Ronald Sheedio were returned to office for three years. They had no opposition.

Trip Planned For 5th Graders

The Northern Illinois Conservation Club (NICC) will conduct its 12th annual Kettle Moraine Exploration trip Saturday for the Antioch Grade School's 5th graders.

The club headquarters, two miles west of Rt. 59 on Rt. 173, will schedule departure of four busloads of students at 9:30 a.m., arriving at the Kettle Moraine at 11 a.m.

The State Forest Service will provide a narration concerning the tree and plant life of the park and then the youngsters will cook their own lunches over fires. Soft drinks will be furnished by the NICC.

Alternate hiking routes will be selected and the visitors will embark on two-mile walks. Students should carry their cameras and notebooks, since the club will award prizes for the best essays written after their return home.

The trip will end at the club parking area about 5 p.m. The anticipated turnout for the tour is 400 students. Parents are invited to drive along.

Ask the Old Farmer: I have heard that you know a storm is coming if you see the birds all sitting around on trees and rooftops, rather than flying. Is this a sign, and if so, why? G. C., St. Paul, Minn.

We suppose it could be a sign. Birds perch more before storms because low-pressure air is less dense, making it harder for them to fly.

A May wedding is planned at St. Peter's Church in Antioch.

CHAOTIC DAYMom survives the wedding

By MARIE DOTY
Mother of the Bride

AURORA, Ill. — "We just want a simple wedding," our eldest daughter assured us. "An informal ceremony right here on the farm."

So how did we wind up with 16 attendants, a band, a decorator for the barn (yes, the barn), and enough flowers for a fair-sized funeral?

Easy, that's how.

First of all, the enemy gave us no time to shore up our defenses.

One Sunday morning Lee announced she and Hal were engaged.

We were not enchanted. We had known Hal only two weeks. Never mind that the two had been friends since their junior year in college. Never mind that he was an attractive, pleasant, likable young man.

Our little girl wasn't going to marry anyone her parents had met just two weeks before.

Seven weeks was what they gave us. Seven weeks to plan a simple wedding.

"Wouldn't you like to wait until next summer?" we pleaded.

"I may be sent back to Germany any time," said Hal, who didn't even want to wait seven weeks. He didn't trust the Army.

The next bombshell was the size of the wedding party.

"How many did you say?" I screeched.

"Uh — 16," said our daughter, timidly but firmly.

"No way! Do you have any idea what that would cost for flowers alone?"

"OK," she said. "Who shall we leave out?"

We reviewed the troops. Her half of the mob included her sister and her foster sister, Hal's two sisters and three friends who had years ago sworn in blood to be bridesmaids.

His half included his brother, Lee's two brothers and three friends. You have seven girls, you have seven guys to walk them back up the aisle. Right?

"And, please, the twins, for flower girl and ring bearer?" she pleaded.

That first week, moving in a panic that lasted right through the wedding, we ordered invitations, searched for a caterer, started painting the hall and shopped for the wedding and bridesmaid dresses.

The wedding dress was a confection of ivory satin, lace and something sheer and lovely.

"Just try it on for size," was the saleswoman's siren song.

The bridesmaid dresses at the department store took eight weeks to order and cost about $60.

Besides, the bridesmaids were scattered all over the Midwest. Gathering pattern sizes and sending the right amount of material to each girl took a little doing.

And not all had the ability or the time to sew. Lee and her sister, Janis, wound up with four dresses to make in three weeks.

The last ribbon was stitched in place two hours before the wedding. But the dresses were beautiful and cost about $12.

"At least we don't have to rent a hall for the reception," our daughter kept saying.

True. One big barn had been converted to a recreation area by the family-owned company when it bought Wild Rose Farm.

Two scout picnics, sponsored by company employees, doubled up to free the barn for the wedding day. Everyone loves to play Cupid.

The snaggle was catering. The barroom and club room are paneled and there is a fireplace. Lovely.

"But there's no kitchen!" protested the lady from the church organization famous for its beautiful weddings.

"We've got two coolers and a stove," I offered.

She was gracious but firm. No kitchen, no catering.

Before she left, intrigued with the idea of a country wedding, she asked what we were serving for a beverage. We answered together.

"Beer," said my husband.

"Champagne punch," I said.

We glared at each other — and ended up with both, plus mixed drinks. Launching a battleship would have been cheaper.

We called the Chicago caterer who serves the company picnic and the salesmen convention each year.

"Just something simple," I said. "Cake, punch and hors d'oeuvres."

A few days later my husband, looking white and haggard, staggered into the office, and handed me the catering contract.

The bill for the hors d'oeuvres, cake and two kinds of punch for 150 people — plus a platoon of waitresses — was roughly $900.

We decided to have a buffet lunch.

The only place for an indoor wedding was the big, unheated, unfinished barn dance room.

Decorated with corn shucks, bales of straw and pumpkins, it's a nifty place for an autumn hoedown. But for a wedding, it lacks a lot.

For only $200 a stage decorator from Chicago would transform it into a beautiful woodland, complete with red and amber lights.

"At least we don't have to rent a place," said our daughter.

KAREN KNUTSON

ENGAGED

Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Knutson of Antioch have announced the engagement of their daughter, Karen, to Gregg W. Bevier of Mundelein.

Karen, a graduate of Warren High School and Lutheran General School of Nursing, is employed at Carle Clinic and attending the University of Illinois.

Gregg is a graduate of Mundelein High School. He will receive his bachelor's degree next month from the University of Illinois and will continue his education in animal science.

The couple plans a June 15 wedding at Trinity Lutheran church in Long Lake with a reception following at the Swedish Glee Club in Waukegan.

"We could have rented a hall for $125," snarled her father.

And whether you're ready for it or not, the wedding date arrives. My brother, a Baptist minister, and my dad flew in from Tacoma, Wash. Gifts, friends, bridal party members were arriving from everywhere.

But miraculously, out of the chaos, came the wedding of our daughter's dreams.

With only the soft lights, the mismatched woods and forests were beautiful, and the florist had played magician.

The ceremony, even with the long procession of bridal attendants, was a simple one.

Crane frets over brashness

By NANCY ANDERSON

HOLLYWOOD — Bob Crane, back on television in a new NBC series about a middle-aged executive who enrolls in medical school, says his physical appearance is a problem.

Through no fault of his own, he just simply looks too cocky.

"That was one of the problems with 'Hogan's Heroes' and that's one of the problems with the new show," he says, "and I recognize it."

"Because of my physical image, there's a little too much brashness, a little too much self-assurance."

"Like someone once said, 'When you do a talk show, you have a tendency to take over.'

"And I said, 'I really don't want to. But my training was in broadcasting where for 17 years I was always conscious that we were three seconds from dead air, so I had to keep it moving.'

"So, when an interviewer asks me, 'How was your trip over here today?' I'll do five minutes on my trip over, only because I think that's what he wants."

"But then when I see that interview on the air, I think, 'This is awful. I'm exhausted from listening to my own voice.'

Mom Survives Wedding

The vocalist, tenderly strumming a 12-string guitar, misted our eyes with a song she had written for Hal and Lee.

The corn shucks and pumpkins, moved from the place of the wedding, found a home in the corners of the patio and club room.

The buffet, plain country food was made with the seasoning of love that no caterer could ever have.

And so Lee and her tall, handsome husband, Hal Groves, had their quiet farm wedding after all.

Would we do it all over again — the confusion, the expense, the headaches and all? Of course we would.

Stupid Arguments By Federal Bureaus

By SENATOR BARRY GOLDWATER

The quasi-official government bureaus struck a blow for complete independence recently when they told President Ford that executive orders issued for departments of the executive branch do not apply to them.

The agencies, which for many years have gone their own way and written their own rules, told the President, in effect, that he exercises no authority over their activities. This was the ultimate in confrontations. It presented a spectacle of groups of men named by the President informing him he had no right to tell them what to do - even when the President was acting in the best interest of the country.

PRESIDENT FORD did not ask the agencies for a file of their deepest and darkest secrets. All he did was ask for an idea of what various programs proposed in Congress and in the departments might cost the taxpayers. He asked for "economic impact statements," showing what various new standards for air, water, noise, meat, poultry, fabrics, land sales, boats, paints and similar items might cost the government in the years ahead.

But the way the regulatory agencies, especially those having to do with the economy, reacted, you would have thought the President had asked for something far more important.

The independent economic regulatory agencies unanimously informed the White House that the President's order requiring inflation impact statements does not apply to them. They seem to think such statements would be equal to agency opinions, and in economic terms this cannot be done.

OF ALL the stupid arguments going on in Washington at the present, this is among the first two or three. President Ford requested information upon which he could base economic decisions. The agencies are in existence for that very purpose.

However, the Interstate Commerce Commission, the Federal Power Commission, the Civil Aeromautics Board, the Federal Maritime Commission, to name a few, seem to think a reply to the President would compromise their positions in the government.

LET'S TALK David Toma gets across

By REV. W. LEE TRUMAN

The high school gymnasium was filled and noisy. They had come to hear a man who was portrayed on a television series as an innovative, pacifistic detective. The stocky dark-haired man who walked to the microphone said, "My name is David Toma." He had the attention of every person in the gymnasium. There was no noise.

"I'll tell you," he began, "when I came out here, I expected to find a bunch of rich kids from one of those typical California suburbs."

Toma paused. "But this isn't. These are beautiful people here. I was glad to come out here. I am proud to have come here."

Toma in real life lives in Newark, N.J. He works as a police detective whose use of disguises in undercover work inspired a television series named after him:

An anonymous parent of a teen-age girl had heard him speak, and then paid the cost to bring Toma to the Agoura (Calif.) High School. But Toma did not just speak, he was on campus for 11 and one-half hours and never stopped talking to both parents and students.

The 41-year-old Toma is on leave from his police duties. This is to let him talk to kids about drugs. Agoura is a well-to-do area, and drugs are available there. 32 students were arrested on campus several weeks before for drug use by undercover police who had posed as joggers and students.

Some students came to jeer the detective. The real-life Toma wears his hair over his ears, and his flashy shirts loosely buttoned. He is ungrammatical and the majority of the students related to him almost immediately; only a few gave catcalls.

"I think I got into their heads here today," he said after the evening appearance. Why? He had five "rap sessions" with kids who were both telling him their stories and asking where they might be able to get help. Toma described himself as a cop who hates violence, hates to carry a gun, and has never fired his gun at anyone. The kids applauded at this point.

He makes it very clear that he hates the use of drugs because of what he has seen it do to people — people he loves — and he spared no gruesome detail. One Agoura senior said, "The way he explained it is the way it really happens, the way I've seen it happen. He tells the truth."

The real-life Toma received a standing ovation. He had left some in tears. Others flocked to him to get his mailing address, and one young lady, having no paper to write on, asked him to jot his address on her arm.

The sentences the kids remembered were: "Preventive measures are more important than locking people up. You lock up 200 kids. Do they know why they are being locked up? What are they do-

Buying an air conditioner?

There's one number you should know besides the price.

Before you choose an air conditioner, ask the dealer for its energy efficiency ratio. This number tells you the efficiency of a unit. An air conditioner with an EER number of 8 or above will be thrifty for you electrically.

The EER number is computed by dividing the BTUs by the watts. A 12,000-BTU unit that uses 1500 watts will rate an 8. If the EER doesn't appear on the tag or metal nameplate, use this simple formula yourself. It's a worthwhile exercise that can pay off in electric dollar savings over the long run. Don't buy too much capacity.

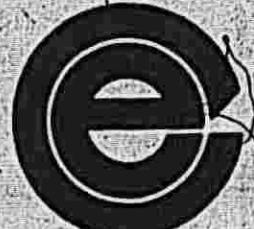

Surprisingly, an air conditioner that's too big usually won't keep you as comfortable as a smaller unit.

So measure the space to be cooled before you go to the dealer. Also note any doors that might let cool air escape, or windows that might let direct sunlight in. The dealer will have charts to translate your notes into the right air conditioner selection.

It makes a lot of sense to buy an air conditioner that starts efficient and stays efficient. And saving energy always makes sense.

FIRST ONE IN How to counter the 'dinker'

By ED COLLINS

One of the reasons the club "dinker" wins is because many of his shots are difficult to return.

For example, the "dinker" characteristically lobs the ball high over the net. The pace of the ball doesn't scare you as much as the "shape." The "shape" is the height at which the ball passes over the net and the resultant bounce.

The "dinker" is a master at making you play many awkward high-bouncing balls. He'll drive you nuts with these high-looping ground-strokes. You can thrash and flail around for years and never discover how to play this special shot. The following suggestions should help. The first clue is attempt to run back from the bounce of the ball, allowing it to descend to the proper hitting zone. Sometimes, however, this is impossible. It's here you must learn how to adjust your stroke to the situation.

First of all, lift your hand to the level of the ball. Failure to do this is the common mistake players make in blowing this shot. They take a windmill swipe at it that rarely produces anything more than a big swish.

Secondly, take a short backswing, and bivel back the face of the racquet. Drop your front shoulder and push the bottom edge of the racquet through the shot. Don't slug it. This is a defensive shot that requires a deliberate slicing motion.

Hopefully, this stroke will result in a high deep return with a slight amount of underspin. Your objective is to get the ball back — deep!

Don't hit it down and into the net. This is the way the average "dummy" does it. He erroneously reasons that since he is hitting the ball from above the net level he should be able to hit it directly down into the court. He can't!

Use common sense, and hit the ball up and forward. Aim six feet over the net and hope you get the ball deep enough so the crazy "dinker" won't be able to bounce one up around your neck again. Good luck!

Wilmot Track Plans Preview

Stock car fans will get the chance to meet top drivers and take a close look at super modified and sportsman race cars when the IRA (Interstate Racing Assn.) conducts its annual mall show and pre-season inspection from 1 to 5 p.m. Sunday at the Burlington Plaza on Hwy. 83 in Burlington, Wis.

The equipment check is a prelude to a full season of

Saturday night racing, which begins Apr. 26 at the Kenosha County Speedway at the fairgrounds in Wilmot, Wis.

Among the top drivers who will be on hand to show their cars, talk to fans and sign autographs are Ron Bergsma of Richmond, Bill Damron of Lake Villa, Dan and Roger Hagi of Lake Villa, Tom Homan of Antioch and Carmen Menzardo of Lindenhurst.

SPORTS

Weather Slows Prep Athletes

The main trouble with spring sports in this area is that spring doesn't know it's supposed to be here by now.

But Antioch High School's track and baseball teams are hoping for better weather this week which will enable them to get their seasons underway.

The baseball team was "frozen out" twice last week.

The track and field team shivered through a practice meet with Grayslake last week and, on Apr. 8, performed indoors against Libertyville and Waukegan.

Not yet in top shape, Antioch came in third in the three-team meet, won by Libertyville.

Encouraging performances for Antioch included Mike Jones' victory in the 40-yard dash in the brisk time of 4.7 seconds. That's comparable to 10.6 for the 100.

Kevin Walpole won the mile run in the rapid time of 4:44. And Mike Ware triumphed in the triple jump with a fine leap of 40 feet 11 inches.

very hard."

"Pitching will be our No. 1 problem," the coach said. "We don't have an outstanding pitcher, but we have enough pitchers with enough ability to take up the slack."

The Sequoit pitching staff includes Gary Klean, Ron Jackson, Mike Witt, Mitch Witt, Terry Lear and Jerry Popp.

"Lear and Popp are short relievers with good control and curve balls," Seemann said. "A real sleeper is Jim Cheverette, who throws right-handed and could be the turning point of the season."

Senior Russ Albano, who hasn't pitched since his freshman year because of arm problems will be a welcome addition to the staff, Seemann said. "He brings good baseball knowledge and a fast ball to the mound."

250 Antioch Youngsters Are Saturday Bowlers

Have you ever wondered where the best place is to find 250 area youngsters having fun on a Saturday? Then you haven't been out to the Antioch Bowling Lanes on a Saturday morning.

Just like the adults, the younger bowlers compete for first place trophies, high game and high series awards and the satisfaction of winning three games and raising their averages.

Since September, all 250 of these bowlers have participated in one of five leagues - the Antioch Majors, ages 16-18; Juniors, age 13-15, and Preps, ages 7-12.

BECAUSE OF the special interest and encouragement of the State Bank of Antioch and the First National Bank of Antioch, it is possible for Antioch to have three leagues in the Prep division with 26 teams in all. In addition to sponsoring the prep leagues, each of the banks sponsors a team in the Junior league.

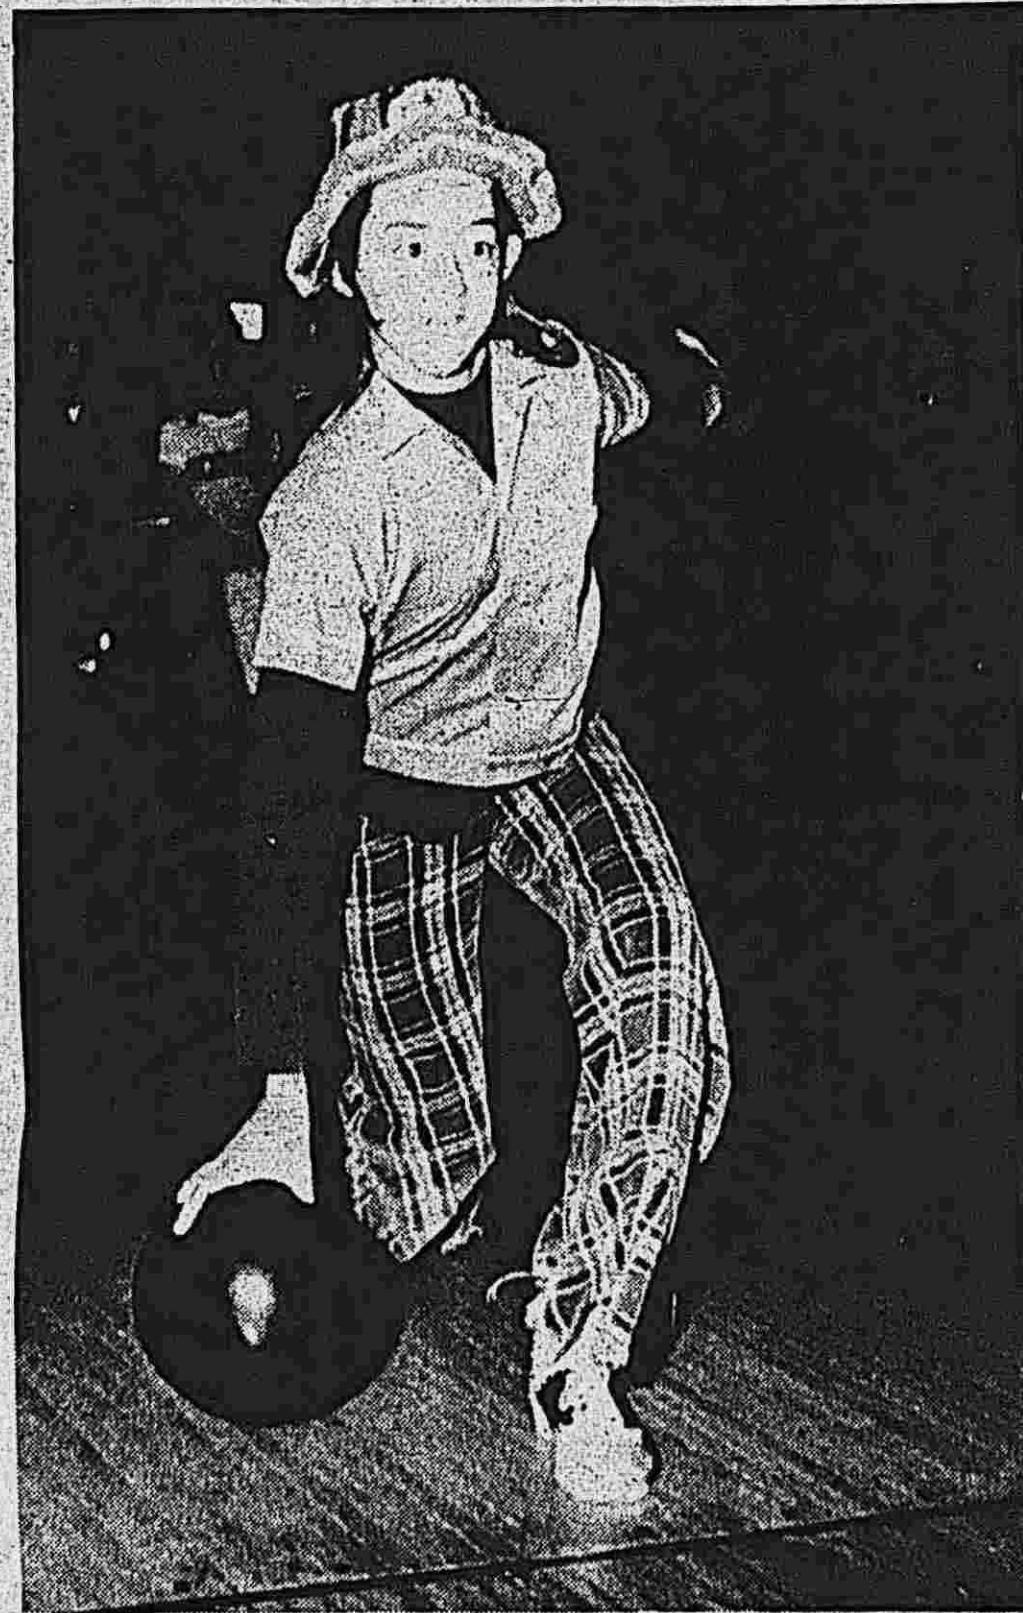

Sponsors for the Major league include HOD Disposal, Hahn Jewelry, King's Drug Store and the Antioch Police Department. Junior league teams are sponsored by Antioch Savings and Loan, Antioch Police Department, the Hobby Barn, the Antioch News, John Terest Chevrolet, Pittman Motors, Woodworkers Tool Works and the Antioch Reporter.

In addition to the sponsors, the youth program has coaches who each week give of their time to help the young bowlers improve their skills. The coaching staff consists of Joe Costa, John Christiansen, Larry Hill, Julie Gutowski and Jim Christiansen. Several parents also help by keeping score and giving pointers.

ANOTHER PERSON the young bowlers' program is deeply indebted to is Kathy Sterbenz. Every Saturday Kathy hands out shoes to more than 200 anxious kids, and answers numerous questions about scores, standings and handicaps.

Some of the high games and high series rolled this year include: Sandy Laviollette, 150; John Blue, 200; Tami Knuth, 165; Mark Neff, 201; Danny McIntyre, 196; Mike Cress, 240; Julie Gutowski, 498; Sue Fisher, 209, 487; Barb Quinn, 188, 480; Linda Panszczyk, 175; Lisa Richards, 201, 476; Rob Neu- roth, 231; and Marty Padjen, 176, 405; Joel Bissing, 172, 408 (Marty and Joel are only 9 years old).

Tony Drazewski hit 184; Diane Pahlke 156; Mike Kirkpatrick 182; Larry Knab 180; John Bellefeuille 177; Lori Mertes 161; and Tom McLellan 161. The scores have qualified these bowlers for a patch award from the state youth bowling association.

HER LUCKY HAT probably helps Kelly Stender of Lake Villa get more strikes and spares in the Bantam League on Saturday mornings at Antioch Bowl.

Bowlers Place High in Tourney

The 1975 Youth Bowling Association Community Family Twosome Tournament has been completed and several Antioch bowlers have placed in the Northwest Suburban finals.

A total of 10,351 couples - a youth bowler and an adult bowler - entered the statewide competition, which is a pins-over-average tournament.

Seventy-five of these couples participated in the preliminary round at Antioch Bowl.

Twenty-one finalists at the local level went on to bowl in the finals. They include: Diane Pahlke and Sue Hallwas, Dawn and Donna Smith, Vickie Brooks and Tarlie Altar, Debbie

Little League Tryouts This Weekend

Tryouts for the Antioch little league will be held Saturday at 9 a.m. for 9 year olds. The tryouts will take place at the little league diamond near the Antioch library.

Anyone who has not signed up, can do so this week only by contacting the league president, Bernie Gutowski, 395-0864. Youngsters must be signed up before the tryouts on Saturday.

At 1 p.m. on Saturday, 10 year olds will be trying out. Boys should bring their mitts and a cap, which hopefully will keep the sun out of their eyes.

All boys 11 and 12 should be at the park at 1 p.m. Sunday for tryouts. All league managers will be there.

"Just a reminder," Gutowski said. "There are only a few openings in the baseball program. All boys who sign up after the teams are filled will be put on a waiting list. You must live in the Antioch Grade School District to be eligible to play."

Super Wrestling Season At Upper Grade

Antioch Upper Grade school has finished its 1974-75 wrestling season.

In dual meet competition the Apaches were undefeated, winning 10 meets. In tournament competition the Apaches again were very strong. The team placed third in the Wilmington Invitational; first in the Northwest Junior Conference tournament; first in the Mundelein Quadrangular, and eighth in the state tournament in DeKalb.

The Apache squad throughout the season showed great team balance as well as having several outstanding wrestlers. Gene Lehn, Jon Gibson and Marvin Gibson placed third, fourth and fifth respectively in the state tournament. Lehn had a season record of 22-1, Jon Gibson a record of 22-2, and Marvin Gibson also was 22-2. Other wrestlers who had fine seasons were Mike Dye, all conference (17-4), Rob Crowell (9-5), Kevin Murphy, all conference (20-4), Scott Peterson, all conference (13-9), Tom Mehlhorn (8-7), Brad Warren (8-5), Mike O'Hara, all conference (7-2), Kirk Sarmont (16-4), and Brent Eastman (2-14).

The Apaches are looking forward to next season since the squad has many potentially outstanding individuals who are now in the 6th and 7th grades. Mike Dye, Jon Gibson, Rob Crowell, Kevin Murphy, Scott Peterson, Chuck Bogaerts, Jim Tanner, Dino Braglia, as well as Hal Fox, Ted Bessette, Paul Quinn, Tom Doulos, Jeff Canella, Mike Blake and Dave Flores will all be returning.

Drug Abuse Council Meets Again Soon

Another meeting of the Lake Region Council on Drug Abuse will be held Friday, Apr. 25, at 7:30 p.m.

A spokesman for the council, Gerry Andre, said:

"A number of persons attended our last meeting at the State Bank of Antioch on Mar. 24. It is the hope of the council to help inform and educate parents and concerned citizens in connection with the drug problems in our area."

The group is planning a summer seminar with speakers who can "help educate the community as to the problems of drugs," according to Gerry.
